POLAND

INTRODUCTION

The Republic of Poland is located in Central Europe east of Germany, and north of Czechoslovakia. It has an area of 120,696 square miles and a population of 38.5 in 2011. Capital is Warsaw. The economy is industrial machinery, coal and coke, transport equipment and iron and steel.

Poland was an independent Republic after World War I until it was invaded by Germany in 1939. After World War II the Polish Communist-Socialist faction won an election in 1947 creating the Peoples Republic. Little is known about the present day ammunition manufacturers.
